THE FREIGHT AGENT DECISION MAP

Ready to build something of your own?

Start Here ▼

You know freight. You know customers. And you know how to win business. Now you're thinking about what you could accomplish on your own. Follow the map to see whether becoming a GlobalTranz freight agent could be your next move.

1

Are you ready to bet on yourself?

If you're driven to build relationships and solve problems and grow a successful business, you're already moving in the right direction. You bring the ambition and experience. GlobalTranz gives you the platform to build on.

2

Do you want more control over your career?

Build your own freight agency, make decisions for yourself and grow a successful business. More control. More opportunity. More room to grow. And with competitive commissions and uncapped earning potential, your success is tied to what you build.

3

Do you have the right partner behind you?

Technology. Carrier access. Back-office support.
GlobalTranz gives you the tools and resources to serve customers across multiple freight modes without building the infrastructure yourself.

4

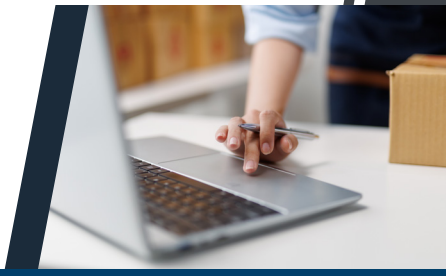

You run the agency. We help power it.

Independence doesn't mean doing everything alone.
Get dedicated training, business coaching, sales resources, technology and operational support, while GlobalTranz manages invoicing, collections, claims and other back-office responsibilities.
